

UNITE THE ARMIES

SAVE THE PLANET

Give the armies of the world a new, positive task:
to protect the environment

unite-the-armies.org

The global ecosystem is crying for help. Signs of a climate disaster are popping up around the world in the form of increased hurricanes, floods, drought, and pollution – which is even preventing children going to school... not to mention creating conflicts and refugee flows. The Earth is not well, and thus its inhabitants aren't well either. We are not helping the environment (=ourselves) quickly enough. There never seems to be enough resources.

But there is a way. The national armies of the world are the biggest reserve of workforce in the world. So – let's call for protecting the environment to be part of the work of the national armies. With their resources and manpower, huge projects become achievable. Each country could advance its own environmental issues for the better with increased ability, and even joint operations, big and small, would be possible. Illegal cutting and poaching in protected areas could be stopped. Plastic could be collected from the oceans, deserts could be reforested, water distribution could be made available to all.

Armies exist to protect the people, and everyone in the world needs protection from environmental disasters. This campaign asks the United Nations to present a global initiative for a redeployment of the world's armed forces towards significant environmental tasks as soon as possible.

This is possible if the political will is found. Armies help us recover from catastrophes like hurricanes and floods. Let the decision-makers know we want armies to protect us from gradual disasters as well! The time... is now!

Want to volunteer? Sign the initiative and reply to our email.

unite-the-armies.org

Go and support by signing the petition at:

unite-the-armies.org

“We are in a hurry. We don't have time for centuries, we have only decades. That is why effective and quick actions are necessary. The armies are the only possibility.”

- Professor Eero Paloheimo

Cooperative NGOs:

Vihreä Elämänsuojelun Liitto ry.
The Green Association for the Protection of Life

Tekniikka elämää palvelemaan ry.
(TEP)
Technology for Life

